AURORA, Mo., Jan. 7 .- "Cotton" Hemphill, 25-year-old member of a Stone County farm family, is dead, and "Uncle" Frank Norman, 70year-old proprietor of a filling station, is in jail in Mount Vernon today as a result of a party at Norman's tourist cabin here last night. Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Ginn said Hemphill and Norman

Keeping With Costs.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.-Frank C. Rand of St. Louis, board chairman of the International Shoe Co., adressed a joint meeting of the National Boot & Shoe Manufactur-ers' Association and the National Shoe Retailers' Association, at the National Shoe Fair this afternoon. Discussing increased costs of nerchandise, Rand said the logical irse was for reallers to sell at prices in keeping with their costs. He said neither manufacturer nor merchant could absorb increased costs, and that adherence to quality standards would make price increases necessary.

Increasing taxe sweer declared by Rand to be a primary cause of higher prices. He quoted a pre-alection speech of President Roose-velt as to the effect of excessive on industry and employ ment. He urged creation of a pub lic sentiment demanding reduction in cost of government.

Rand cited figures of the Department of Commerce to show the average consumption of shoes in the United tSates was 2.85 pairs a year for each individual; Canada and the United Kingdom were standards under which the per capita shoe consumption of this country could be continued.

BURIAL PERMITS.

Walter Rice, a Special Assistant Attorney-General, opposing dismissal of the injunction suit yesterday, cited various cases where the Government had proceeded along similar lines after acquittal of defendants on criminal charges. In one generally similar case, tried in New York, he said the Court had held acquittal was not an "affirmative verdict of innocence but a finding that the Government had not proved guilt beyond a reasonable doubt," whereas in an equity case, such as an injunction suit, "a mere preponderance of evidence was sufficient for a verdict.

In leading cases, he continued, the Supreme Court of the United States has held that the Government cannot proceed to collect a penalty, after acquittal of criminal charges, but could carry on an action to recover or one for remedial purposes. He called attention to the case of Charles E. Mitchell, New York banker, acquitted of evading income taxes, but being sued by the Government to recover the taxes alleged to be due.

No-risk trial offer still held open by dealers of ST. LOUIS

We recently made a remarkable straight-from-the-shoulder offer to roll-your-own smokers through the columns of this paper. The effect was electrifying!

Smokers by thousands took us at our word . . . tried Prince Albert ... and met up with a better "makin's" tobacco than they had smoked before.

Tobacco must please, or you've smoked it FREE! The offer is repeated today. Prince Albert delights you, or you pay nothing. And you are the judge. Could anything be fairer? Choicest, top-quality tobaccos are used in Prince Albert.

Ordinary grades are rejected.

Prince Albert is "crimp cut" for easy rolling and slow, cool burning. Mild, mellow flavor is assured by our special "biteremoving" process. Prince Albert is packed right - in tin. No bother - no waste. Tobacco keeps in prime condition.

And you get real money-inthe-bank economy too. There's tobacco for around 70 cigarettes crowded into every big red 2-ounce tin. Remember that it is Prince

Albert which makes the fair and square NO-RISK offer. And there are 2 full ounces in every tin of Prince Albert. So start rolling P. A. today! It's a mighty neighborly smoke in THE OFFER Roll yourself 30 swell

If you don't find them the finest, tastiest roll-your-own cigarettes you ever smoked, return the pocket tin with the rest of the tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. THE AAA KNOCKOUT.

decision was dealt by the Supreme Court in knocking out the AAA in its entirety. It was held by the court that the power to regulate agriculture on a nation-wide scale, in the manner designed by the Agricultural Adjustment Act, does not lie in the Federal Government. Thus ends the second of the two major recovery experiments of the Roosevelt administration and the doom is spelled likewise, in all probability, of such other legislation as the Guffey-Snyder coal, the Bankhead cotton, the Kerr-Smith tobacco and the Warren potato laws.

The Supreme Court has definitely ended the fears of those who have watched with growing misgivings the concentration of power in Washington in the hands of the President; who have charged the Roosevelt administration with usurpation of authority and with an attempt to change the basic form of American democracy; who have argued that the whole basic fabric of the New Deal is contemptuous of the Constitution. In the rubbish-heap is Mr. Dooley's famous aphorism that the Supreme Court follows the election returns. Aside from all other aspects of the decision, it illustrates the perfect operation of the system of checks and balances by which our Government is forced to operate under its inderlying charter.

The path charted by the court is clear. Congress and the President cannot read into the Constitution things which are not there. In any future attempts to regulate business and agriculture, they must proceed only under powers clearly granted.

Apparently, the shock of the AAA's sudden demise is to be softened by an attempt on the part much new money is required for relief. The only of the administration to fulfill the contracts already made with the farmers. It is understood that the Boyce Thompson at Superior, Ariz. After luncheon, he talked to the student group of which I was a member, outlining his plans for doing public service with his plans for doing public service with his great wealth. THE BUDGET MESSAGE.

There are no surprises in the President's budget message to Congress-a genuine message, this time, on the "state of the Union." What it does is to bring home vividly the cost of the various measures undertaken by the administration in its relief and recovery efforts.

Again, as in the budget message a year ago, the balancing of the budget is thrust into the indefinite future. The President stressed, however, the downward curve of the Government's deficits, and stated that but for the item of relief the budget for the fiscal year 1936-37 would be in balance. The gross deficit for the fiscal year 1934 was $3,989,000,000; for 1935 it was $3,575,000,000; for 1936 (estimated), $3,234,000,000; and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, the President estimates that, without counting in any new appropriations for work relief, the deficit will be $1.098,000,000.

Relief-there's the problem. Mr. Roosevelt said that he would later go before Congress and say how hint as to the amount to be asked for was in his statement that he did not anticipate it would be as much as $2,136,000,000-which is the difference between the estimated gross deficit for 1936 and the estimated partial deficit for 1937. In other words, by whatever amount the appropriation for work-relief at this session is less than $2,136,000,000, the gross deficit for 1937 will be less than the deficit for 1936 by the same amount."

The message asks for total appropriations of $6,-400,000,000, which is $1,254,000,000 more than estimated requirements of the current fiscal year if we leave out the four-billion-dollar work-relief fund voted last session.

The figures are hard for the finite mind to comprehend. Some idea of the staggering size to which the Government's expenditures have grown may be gathered from the article by our Washington correspondent last Sunday, showing that today the single item of interest on the national debt exceeds the entire cost of the Government 20 years ago.

The President's estimates have now got to be read in the light of the Supreme Court's opinion knockan additional cash outlay of from one to two billion dollars. Moreover, as already stated, there is the matter of the undetermined amount that will be needed for relief.

The President found cheer in the increased revenues from taxes and predicted that "steadily decreasing deficits," both from this cause and from a reduction in relief needs, "will turn into steadily increasing surpluses."

It is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

We have just gone through the coldest December in years, but the heat turned on by the President's message and the Supreme Court assures a sizzling When the AAA caused crops to be plowed under January, February, March, April, May, June, July,

A MOVEMENT TO SUPPORT.

Few movements in Missouri are of such vital concern to the entire State as one just launched to place conservation on a non-partisan, permanent basis. This is so for the reason that the welfare of every Missourian, indirectly if not directly, is affish, our wild flowers and our song birds are pro tected and encouraged.

The immediate motivation of the present movement is the Restoration and Conservation Federation of Missouri, whose president is E. Sydney Stephens of Columbia. Formed not to displace any other conservationist organization but rather to unite the strength of all such groups in a campaign toward their common objective, this new organization has for its goal the adoption of a constitutional amendment, designed to take conservation out of politics. To this end, it is perfecting a State-wide organiza tion to propose such an amendment to the voters in November by means of the initiative. Preparations are now being made to circulate petitions in the near future.

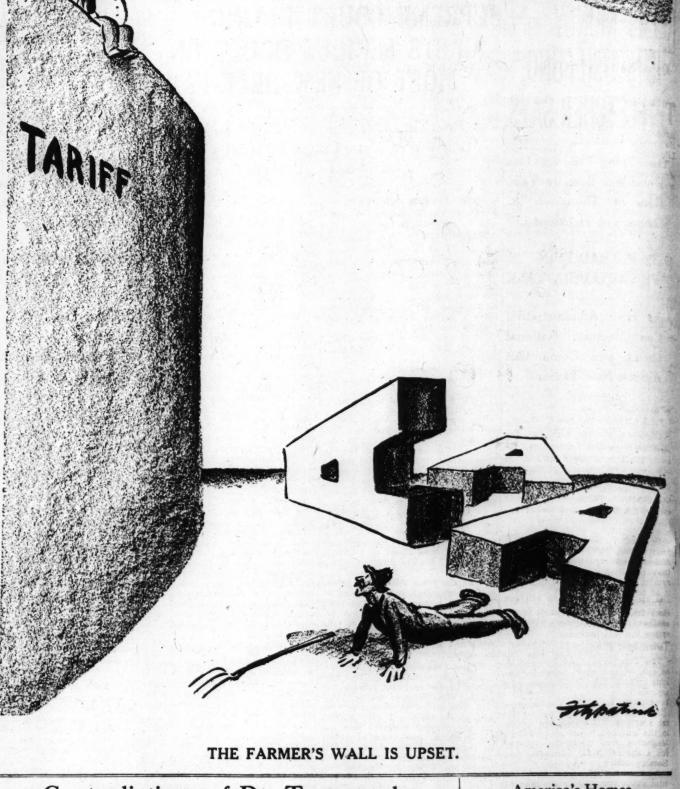

The plan is to do away with the present political system and to set up in its place a non-partisan non-salaried commission of members serving six year, staggered terms, one of whose duties would be to choose a conservation director with professional training and experience. This director would serve so long as his conduct of the office satisfied the non-political commissioners. Contradictions of Dr. Townsend

Townsend plan propaganda is misleading, says report, citing founder's admissión before House committee that it would take several years to put scheme in effect; in address later, he said benefits could begin at once; his economist doubted full rate could be paid, or that more than "a small number" of aged could be aided.

A Bulletin of the New Hampshire Foundation, Concord, N. H.

N support of a contention that the public appeal now being made by promoters of the Townsend plan is "misleading," the New Hampshire Foundation has compiled excerpts from the record of congressional hearings as showing conflict between testimony then for the plan and current statements in its behalf.

The transcript of views stated to Ways and Means Committee during ings on social security legislation in January and February, 1935, available in a Go ernment Printing Office document entitled "Economic Security Act: Hearings," quoted as disclosing doubts of proponents as immediate effectiveness of the Townsend plan and as to the number of persons it

Dr. F. E. Townsend, originator of the scheme, appeared before the committee on Feb. 1, 4 and 12 to explain his plan, then before Congress in the form of McGroarty bill (H. R. 3977) introduced on Jan. 16, 1935.

In his concluding statement (page 1126 of the report), he said:

"It has been very obvious to all of us that it would be quite impossible to start pensioning all of the old folks who have attained the age of 60 at one particular time, but it is also very obvious that it will take several years even to register them.

"Nobody has been fool enough to expect that we could take 10,000,000 of old folk and put them immediately on a $200-a-month asis without putting this country into debt considerably in order to carry it. There never has been any idea that 10,000,000 would be retired immediately."

Chairman Doughton reminded Dr. Townsend that "evidently you must know that the people who are writing these letters, inundating Congress with letters by the carload, must have had it sold to them on the theory that just as soon as this law is enacted, they will immediately go on the payroll. That is evidently the way they understand it, and you are bound to know they understand it that way."

"I cannot help that," Dr. Townsend replied. "We all expect to go on that payroll." To this Chairman Doughton rejoined: "If they understood they were not going to be registered for several years and would not et on the payroll immediately, the propaganda would cease at once."

In contrast to this, John Pearson, director of the New Hampshire Foundation, quotes notes taken by him as extracts from Dr. Townsend's speech at Nashua, N. H., Nov. 30, as follows:

"People say I've got my sights too high. If $200 is not enough, we'll raise it to $300 a month-if you want to live well. No one getting $200 a month will be unwilling to spend $300. We may do it in January, 1937. 'I predict in 20 years' time no one above the age of 45 will be needed in industry; $200 a month will be a minimum wage in a short time. Don't let anyone persuade you that this will be costly. "If this country needs circulating medium, let's put it out, supported by taxation. And

"Take the old folks, make a class of them,

8,000,000 important spenders; hand them a spending ability of $200 a month at least. The $200-a-month buying power will create at least 8,000,000 new jobs for young people.

"Put 18 billions a year into circulation. We wouldn't have to wait 30 days-nor 10 days-after passage of the law before factory wheels would be turning fast. Almost immediately, everyone would get work. We know that from experience.

Among the witnesses at the congressional hearings presented by Dr. Townsend to elucidate his plan was Dr. R. R. Doane, an economist, listed as director of research, American Business Surveys, New York City On page 1121 of the report is found this question asked of Dr. Doane by Representative Woodruff: "Have you any opinion to express as to whether or not this plan can be successful if passed by Congress?

"Of course, my first reaction was that it could not be done, and my reaction is yet that it cannot be done in that maximum amount," Dr Doane replied. "I think it is possible to introduce the idea in a modified form that Dr. Townsend or others, or this committee, may devise, taking on just a small number.

"You may even change the pension from $200 to a smaller figure, and after a period of years, you might be able to care for 3,-000,000 to 4,000,000 additional income recipi ents. But to take in all of the full 10,000, 000 or 11,000,000 in that age group immediately, I think none of us has the remotest idea that it is possible." As a result of the Ways and Means hearings, a revised Townsend plan was presented in the form of a second McGroarty bill (H. R. 7145), filed April 1, 1935, and left on the calendar.

The differences between this measure and the earlier one are pointed out by the New Hampshire Foundation as follows:

"In authorizing the pension, it is now further provided that an amount 'not exceeding $200 a month' may be paid pro rata to qualified annuitants from funds accumulated during that period after deductions have been made for administration and for a reserve fund for delayed payments. "To the list of exceptions, previously including Government pensioners (except disabled war veterans) and inmates of insane asylums and jails, were added persons engaged in gainful pursuit; those with a net income in excess of $2400 (if less than $2400, it must be deducted from the pension) and those who do not covenant spend each annuity during the month in which it is received.

"In the financing, besides the original 2 per cent tax on fair gross dollar value of each transaction, there would be imposed an additional 10 per cent Federal tax on all incomes, a 2 per cent additional inheritance tax and a 2 per cent additional tax on all

America's Homes

From the Pittsburgh Press.

THIS winter season again throws into bold It reveals a far from happy picture. At least 36 per cent of America's families need rehousing. Some 6,000,000 of them live I 'sub-standard" town and city houses, 5,000,000 more live in farm homes that lack primary provisions for health and decency. Largely because of its wretched homes, this country's death rate in 1926 was higher than that of New Zealand, Australia, the Netherlands, Norway, Denmark, England, Sweden, Uruguay and Germany. If our death rate were as low as New Zealand's, we could save 415,000 lives annually. If each life is worth only $5000, we would save two billion dollars a year Slums and near-slums are not cheap hous-ing. They are far too expensive for this country longer to tolerate.

Of course, low farm and city incomes are primarily to blame. Men with incomes below $1300—the average manufacturing worker's income in 1929—cannot afford good homes. But good homes can be made cheaper, and in their building, wealth will be plowed into these infertile strata at the oottom of the social geology.

The Committee for Economic Recovers has sent President Roosevelt its home-by ing program. This proposes that private industry undertake the building of 750,000 homes a year for 10 years, for families with incomes of $1000 or more. These homes will range in price from $2500 to $6000, to be paid for with 5 to 10 per cent down, interes ernment-guaranteed under FHA. Homes for lower-income groups, the committee says, should be publicly financed.

undertakes this job. It would co-ordin ardize public financing through Federal loans and grants to cities with housing authorities. These rather than the Federal Government would clear slum areas and build low-rent homes for the present occu pants. Secretary of the Interior Ickes has indorsed the Wagner plan. The task of rehousing a third of America's

The task of renousing a time. Moving con-families is huge and difficult. Moving conservatively along paths found safe in countries, America can wipe out its dis-graceful slum tenements and restore its home life to comfort and dignity.

A THREAT TO POPEYE. From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

POPEYE THE SAILOR, hero of American youth, has a light on his hands which will take more than "muskel" to win. His missionary work of years on behalf of spin-ach is being undermined. Just at the time when the nation's young 'uns were about persuaded that green leaves did taste good because Popeye said so, WPA research workers in New York are hunting a substitute. Under the auspices of the Department of Public Markets, these workers have been vegetables which find their way into metro for the table and acquain' housewives with their possibilities. Cardoon, thistle-like plant whose stalks and leaf veins are cooked up like spinach, is one of their offerings. Another is yantia. Then there are escarole, the soy bean, tare, finnochio and the fava bean, all of which have a suspicion of spinach about them. They are undoubtedly fine dishes properly prepared, but it will require an advocate with more appeal than Popeye to sell them to American childhood. This search for a substitute may prove in the end that spinach is not so bad after all.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. HE latest attempt on the part of Rex Tugwell to resign dis-closed an important frame of mind on the part of the President. He insists on keeping a quota of Liberals in the New Deal.

The incident, of itself, was insignificant. Tugwell has suggested many times that he resign as Resettlement Administrator and return to his chair of economics at Columbia. Last week's renewed proposal of resignation came after publication of a story that Miss Grace Falke, assistant to Tugwell, had assumed a role similar to that of Miss Frances (Little Robbie) Robinson when Gen. Johnson was dictator of the Blue Eagle. Miss Falke, 27 years old and efficient, had been jumped to a salary of $5600.

Tugwell told the President that the newspaper reports were being misinterpreted, that he was the ob-ject of bitter attack by enemies of the administration, and that he had become a liability rather than an asset to the New Deal. He pleaded that Roosevelt would be better off without him and asked to resign. He made this point more emphat-

There is, however, one consolation to anyone who lives in the public interest is focused on these somewhat unimportant things, that you are really left completely free to live your own inner life as you wish. Thank God, few people are so poor that they do not have an inner life which feels the real springs of thought and action. So if I may offer a thought in consolation to the same who for a time have to live in the "goldfish bowl," it is: Don't worry because people know all that you do, for the really important thing about anyone is what hey are and what they think and feel, and the more you live in a "goldfish bowl" the less people really know about you.

At the age of 20 the expectancy was 336-10 years in the seventeenth century, and 431/2 in 1910. You see the margin has decreased almost half. At the age of 40, the citizen of the seventeenth century might expect to ive 217-10 years on average exectancy, whereas he of the present day has 27 6-10 years to expect. At 50, it was about 17 years, compared to 21 years today. Even at 70, today there is the difference between 71/2 and nine years.

TODAY'S PATTERN

Kay Brannan, late of Wellesley, leaves a wild yachting party with Bob Dakin, medical director. Motoring back to Boston, he drunkenly insists on marrying her. Sober however, he is horrified, for he is engaged to Priscilla Hyde. The Dakins are unexpectedly kind but Priscella is insulting, so Kay begs Bob to wait until Spring for a divorce. He reluctantly consents but their marriage is to be one "in name only." Returning from a one week's cruise they settle down in an apartment. As the months pass, Bob becomes deeply engrossed in his medical work. Kay discovers that he is corresponding with Priscilla but says nothing for there is a deep and growing companionship between herself and Bob.

"I'm too busy," he told her. "Too I need to go to bed and sleep. . " Kay said: "If you'd rather go

THE HIGH TREE OF THE HIGHWAY-A curious and beautiful tree is the elm in the middle of Highway 60. a few miles east of Fairland, Okla. The tree is as secure in its existence as the State itself, because no one would dare cut it down. It was planted years ago by a boy on his father's farm. When the tree was just a sapling, the boy died, and when it became necessary to straighten the highway, the strip of ground was deeded to the State, with the specific provision that the tree would never be disturbed.

GOLD OR PANSY SEEDS?—Many things are more valuable than gold—even pansy seeds. A pound of gold, figured at the present value, as stated by the United States Treasury, is about $450 a pound, whereas pansy seed retails for about $600 a pound, based on various prices charged for small packets of seed weighing only a small fraction of an ounce.
